Dear Parents and Carers

Year 11 - Relationships and Sexual Education

I hope this finds you well.

Firstly, I wish to congratulate all our Year 11 students on their exemplary behaviour and attitudes to their final exams in school. They have shown a work ethic throughout the exam period that has been outstanding and all staff, including from outside the school, have remarked on their calm, mature and sensible disposition.

As we approach the end of term, we will be covering the statutory requirement to deliver relationships and sexual education for all our Year 11 students. This will be delivered by RE department using the resources that have been designed in conjunction with the Catholic Education Service and fully endorsed by the DfE.

The programme is called LIFE TO THE FULL and you can access these resources to support your child at this time, using the following link:

Life to the Full – secondary schools \(tentenresources.co.uk\)

Drawing on the Catholic principle that parents are the first educators of their children we invite you to discuss the subject at home and encourage you to ask your child to talk about the lessons they are covering in school.

There is an online portal for you to access the materials we will be using and this is also available on our website.

This is a vital part of the education that we are committed to with all young people in our care – that we support them to live life to the full and to develop respectful relationships that help them to grow and lead happy and fulfilling lives.

Thank you for your continued support for St Michael's. It has been my absolute privilege to watch this wonderful year group grow into the strong and confident young people that they have become especially over what has been the most difficult and turbulent year.

Yours sincerely,

Helen Keough
